The general law prescribing the rate of taxation for county purposes annually authorizes an increase of 25 per cent over former law, and adds to the amount in the State about $1,000,000. (Page 45, Laws.)

It will be noted that the obligations authorized in the foregoing lists are to bear rates of interest ranging from 8 to 10 per cent to 10 per cent per annum. If it were, we ask the tax payer, to choose, among the various communities in municipalities to contract debts to an extent never before paralleled in the history of the State!

THE EXTRAORDINARY LEGISLATION of the Fifty-eighth General Assembly, which has brought upon our State, wherever good laws are appreciated, a little too extensive to be properly treated within the limits of this document. We commend that branch of the subject to the public press for frequent and thorough exposition.

We have shown,

1. That the Fifty-eighth General Assembly had added more largely than any that ever existed, to the evils resulting from changes and additions upon the statue book.

2. That it was longer, at a higher premium, and all worse work than any other Legislative body in the history of the State.

3. That it expended money profusely on party favorites, and for unusual and extraordinary purposes.

4. That it authorized local burdens almost without limit, and at a rate per capita unapproached in the history of any State.

And that it did many other damaging and objectional things, to the detriment of the prosperity of the State. All of which were done after riding into power on the cry of retribution and reform.

Tax-payers, how do you like such retribution? This! Do you want two more years of it?

Another Democratic Ticket. Things are not altogether lively in the Democratic camp in this state. The leaders may righteously face on their principles, but the masses are not yet ready to do so. Especially does Crawford county revolt—Crawford, the stronghold of Copperheadism in Ohio, the headquarters of anti-slavery meetings and rebellions, where Union soldiers were mobbed and killed during the war. The Copperheads of Crawford have avowed in their wrath that this "blue-bellied abolition general" shall not get their votes for Governor. At least, so we judge from the manifesto of a leader named W. B. Shaw. The aforesaid Shaw has not yet been known to fame, but he will be.

We are convinced that

Shaw is one of the few, the immortal indeed, that were not born to die. Here goes Shaw's manifesto:

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

A convention of the democracy of Ohio will be held at New Washington, Crawford county, on Wednesday, 28th July, to nominate a slate ticket.

None but those known as copperheads during the war need attend.

Published according to the wishes of straightforward Democrats.

W. B. Shaw.

Half to Shaw! This independent Copperhead, who glories in his copperheadism, and means to stand by his colors in the coming campaign, excites our admiration, and almost our enthusiasm. Let us have the Shaw ticket, and we will see how many Democrats remain true to the principles of 1863.

Cleveland Leader.

"Nigger Outrage."

Last Saturday evening a "young blood" of the genuine Democratic persuasion, in an effort to force his attentions upon Mrs. Mary Muir, a colored woman living near the Great Western in this County. Mrs. Muir was out looking for her cows when she was met by a Mr. R. H. — of Morristown, who asked her if she didn't want to make some money easy. When informed by her that she had as much money as he had and didn't want any of his, he drew out a revolver, and threatened to shoot her if she didn't submit. Instead of submitting to the embrace of this loving and amorous anti-nigger Democrat, she raised an alarm and the young gentleman of pure Democratic affinities and attractions was compelled to decamp, but not until he had threatened to shoot the object of his abounding desire.

If she ever told any person of his attempt to destroy the black race by shooting the progress, Mrs. Muir, however, was not to be frightened in that way, and she made him take the road. Alexander, of this place, had a warrant issued for the arrest of this champion of the "white man's government" theory. It is said the beauty has decamped.—Belmont Chronicle.
